THE Mathushek Piano.
The Colibri Piano.
SEVEN OCTAVES WITH EQUALIZING SCALE AND LINEAR BRIDGE.
THE GREAT SOUL IN A SMALL BODY.
Only four feet ten inches long, two feet ten inches wide; this wonderful little Instrument took the highest prize over all full sized Pianos at the great Fair of the American Institute, October 1867, for its great power and sweetness of tone. The great end so long sought for is at last attained in the Calibri. This Piano can pass through any ordinary door-way without removing legs or pedals.
The Orchestral Piano.
(Usual size, Square, with Equalizing Scale and Linear Bridge.)
This instrument took the highest prize over all other pianos at the Fair of the Illinois State Agricultural Society in 1868. By its construction the Sounding-Board is made to vibrate to its fullest possible capacity, producing much greater power, and a higher degree of excellence than has ever before been attained. By the use of this invaluable discovery the common sized Square Piano is equal to the ordinary Concert Grand. Its deep organ bass, rich and soul inspiring middle tones, with a treble, that for the first time sings, having a silvery sweetness to the highest note, so elevates the true standard of excellence that its superior qualities cannot be measured by any former criterion.
A distinguished artist, while interpreting one of those sublime "Adagios" of Beethoven on our Orchestral, said, in deep emotion: Dans ce ton pathetique, on entends les larmes de ta musique. (In this pathetic tone we hear the tears of music fall) Touched by a skillful hand, it can be made to respond to every emotion of the soul.

MISCELLANEOU

THE PRESS.

Monday Morning, November 29, 1869.

GOLD CLOSED in New York last night at 124 3-4.

"The Hon. Jerry."

Mr. Jenckes of Rhode Island, is to be congratulated on having obtained so able and popular a coadjutor in his efforts to reform the civil service as George William Curtis, who is one of the ablest, most cultivated, most upright and most chivalrous of modern Americans. It may be anticipated that considerable interest will be excited in the subject of Mr. Jenckes' long neglected bill, by the delivery of Mr. Curtis' lecture in the different cities of the United States. It may be that at last popular attention will be directed to the pressing importance of the subject, and that such a pressure will be brought to bear upon the members of the Forty-first Congress as will lead them to yield to the clearly expressed will of the people.

The "Hon. Jerry," whom Mr. Curtis referred to in his lecture in this city, Friday night, as an office-hunter of such pertinacity that Mr. Lincoln expected to find him under his bed every night, and uttered involuntary ascriptions of praise to Heaven when he did not find him there, is the representative of a class that Mr. Jenckes proposes to abolish by making merit the sole basis of a claim for official preferment in subordinate places. The bill he has urged upon the attention of his associates for several sessions in succession, proposes the establishment of a civil service commission over which the Vice President of the United States will preside. Before this board all applicants for civil officers, the appointments to which do not require the concurrence of the Senate, are to appear and undergo a competitive examination. This system would, if adopted, secure to our civil service the same guaranties of efficiency that are possessed by the military and naval services, place it on the same basis with that of other civilized countries and cause the "Hon. Jerry" to complain, like Othello, that "his occupation's gone."

But the trouble is in getting it adopted. The present system permits Congressmen to reward their friends. It renders nepotism, bargaining, the buying and selling of offices and all manner of unworthy practices possible. It is too much to expect that the poor fallible human nature of Congressmen, when their interests are directly involved, will provide a remedy unless some extraordinary pressure is applied to them by their long-suffering constituents. There are many honorable exceptions to the general rule, no doubt, and there are members enough who are either true representatives of the people in this respect or foresee that the time is speedily coming when they must yield, to make a large and respectable minority of both houses.

The question for the people is to determine how they shall apply the requisite pressure to make this minority. An able writer in the North American Review has proposed that the Social Science organizations of the country adopt deserving political bantlings that are in need of succor like the civil service bill. No doubt much good might be done in drawing attention to the subject by this means as well as by public lectures. But if these prove insufficient] to effect the purpose intended it will only remain for the people next fall to apply the pressure directly, and refuse to return to Congress any man who has refused to aid in curing so dangerous a disorder of the body politic as an inefficient and corrupt civil service.

Political Notes.

THE infamous Isham G. Harris is named for a seat in the Tennessee Constitutional Convention.

THE Labor party of Boston have nominated Nathaniel E. Chase for Mayor. The Republicans will probably nominate Major Joseph H. Chadwick; the Democrats will take up George P. Baldwin, and the present Mayor, Dr. Shurtleff, will run as an independent citizen's candidate, with a fair chance of winning the prize.

Mississippi politics have a decided piquant tinge of personal directness in their discussion. For instance, Mr. Dent having posted the editors of the Jackson Pilot as calumniators, &c., that paper responds as follows:

"After completing a review of Louis Dent's character, we make the following legitimate deductions: He is a cheat and a swindle, as his transactions in Coahoma County show. He is a political impostor, without character, brains or honesty. He is a published blackleg, falsifier and villain. His record, public and private, is steeped in infamy, loaded with crime, and blackened in sin, fraud and corruption. In short, he is a knave, coward and scoundrel."

A New York paper says that "although there is a bill pending in the Senate, introduced last session in the Senate by Senator Ferry, of Connecticut, providing substantially for universal amnesty to all participants in the rebellion, a Radical Senator has prepared and will introduce, the first week of the session, a bill to remove the political disabilities of every person who is disqualified from voting and holding office by the 14th amendment; and he says he has such information as to lead him to believe that it will pass the Senate without material opposition. Some of the Southern members of the House, express their willingness to vote for such a bill the moment the fifteenth amendment is ratified."

There is nothing in the fourteenth amendment in relation to the disqualification of voters, and if the correctness of the above statement is to be judged by this oversight not much reliance can be placed upon it.

A COMMERCIAL REVOLUTION.—It is only a few days ago that we, commenting on the opening of the Suez canal, expressed the opinion that it would create a decided effect upon the shipping trade with India and China, having in mind then the great commercial interests of Great Britian in this direction; but we did not anticipate that the effect would be so soon felt. A late cable dispatch says that the operation of the new transit route has caused "a serious depreciation of freight to and from India and China by the way of the Cape of Good Hope" in the British markets. This is but the beginning of the change. If the first ripple is so sensibly felt what will be the force of the full tide which shall pour the bulk of Indian commerce across our continent to San Francisco and over the Pacific by steamships; and England will look westward to America for the first intelligence of the transactions in her eastern possessions? Where will the revolution end?

CONGRESS assembles a week from to-day, but a Washington dispatch says that nothing of importance will be done until after the holidays, except to dispose of the Cuban question and to introduce matters that require mature deliberation, like Sherman's funding bill. The several committees that have been in session during the recess will report promptly. This putting off work till after the holidays is the old story. The final result often is that important business like providing for the funding of the debt, the resumption of specie payments and the reform of the civil service are postponed not only till after the holidays, but forever.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE IN NEW YORK.—The State of New York has voted three times on abolishing the property qualification of colored men, in 1846, 1860 and 1869. Each time there has been a large relative gain in favor of the proposition. In 1846, when the population was much smaller than now, the majority against equal suffrage was 138,930; in 1860 it was 140,481, and in 1869 only 31,743. One more trial would probably be enough, but before that is made it is to be hoped that the passage of the fifteenth amendment will make equal suffrage the law of the land.

HORACE GREELEY has reached the end of essays on political economy in the Tribune. Whether the protectionists have reason to despair or not is an open question, but if any arm could save the cause it would be that of the writer of these papers. Mr. Marble's ingenious "Parsee letters" in the World, which were intended as running satirical comments on Mr. Greely's articles, lacked the vigor and argumentative force of the great protectionist's style.

THE vote of West Florida on the question of annexation to Alabama was light and only partial returns have been received, but so far as heard from it appears that the annexationists have triumphed.

Report of the Secretary of the Navy.

The following summary of the report of Secretary Robeson has already appeared:

Secretary Robeson has completed his annual report, and presented the same to the President to-day. It appears that the whole number of vessels now in the service is two hundred. This number he believes to be too large for the present requirements of the Navy, and recommends its reduction to one hundred and eighty. The Secretary seems to favor the use of the smaller vessels, and believes there are too many of the larger class in the service, as it is not required that vessels of large tonnage be employed. He is violently opposed heretofore to the Isherwood machinery on account of its great weight, and the space it occupies, and asks authority to dispose of the vessels of over 2,000 tonnage constructed during the war on the Isherwood plan. Among the latter class are the Chattanooga, at Philadelphia; the Ammonoosuc and Virginia, at Boston; the Illinois, at Portsmouth, and the Java, Ontario and Colorado, at New York. He speaks in favorable terms of the iron-clads. The report gives much space to a comparison of the navy of the United States with the navies of other countries, especially of France and England. The entire tonnage of the English navy is five and one-half millions, of the United States four and one-half millions, and of France over two millions. The cruising of our navy is alluded to in praiseworthy terms, and the report shows that the service has been of great benefit. The report also demonstrates that in accomplishing results we are the equal of England and the superior of France. He calls attention to the superiority of the services of the French and English in their regulations and discipline of the enlisted men, and the provisions for their protection and comfort. This is particularly shown in allowances for uniform, rations, hospitals, pensions, bounties, &c., &c., which induces enlistments. It appears that at present the enlistments for the navy have gradually fallen off, until a sufficient number of men cannot be obtained. In this connection the report is very elaborate, giving the views of the Secretary very fully, and shows how he believes the service may be improved. He recommends an increase of the pay of seamen and enlisted men, and also the longevity system, whereby the pay is increased according to the length of service. He also favors an additional allowance of clothing and an increase of pensions. He also recommends Congressional action for the protection of seamen at home and abroad from the land sharks and swindlers, and he believes that proper officers should be selected to give information, advice and assistance at some of the principal ports. The English system of educating boys through enlistments for petty officers meets the Secretary's approval, and he recommends the establishment of the system here, and that practice ships be set aside for the purpose. In comparing the strength of the squadrons of this and other countries, now in foreign waters, the Secretary shows that ours is smaller than those of other nations, and he warmly recommends that our foreign squadrons be at once augmented by additional vessels, especially of the iron-clads. He argues that an increase can be effected without increasing the outlay, through the operations of a regulation lately established of using canvass instead of steam as a motive power. This will not only largely decrease the expense in labor, but also in fuel. Such of course, if made general, will also ultimately abolish most of the coal stations now kept up at an expense of about $3,000,000. The Secretary refers to the subject of subsidizing lines in ocean steamers, and favors such a course in view of the fact that in case of war or any sudden emergency, the government would have a claim upon the vessels thus subsided, which would be of vital importance. In proof of this advantage he cites the number of vessels which might have been profitably used during the war of the rebellion. The navy yards are reported as all in good condition. The Secretary favors the abolishment of the Philadelphia yard and its transfer to League Island; speaks favorably of New London, Conn., and of Port Royal, S. C., as advantageous locations for navy yards, and also says that all yards should be enlarged. The report also recommends the early completion of the ship canal across the Isthmus of Darien, after enumerating some of its advantages. The estimated expense of the Navy, for the next fiscal year, the Secretary places at $26,000,000 against $27,000,000 last year. About $7,000,000 of the latter sum were returned to the Treasury, for the sale of vessels.

Disastrous Shipwreck.

SINKING OF THE SHIP CATHERINE WITH ALL ON BOARD SAVE ONE—STATEMENT OF THE SOLE SURVIVOR.

The British ship Catherine, Capt. Alexander, with a cargo of 1800 tons of railroad iron, from Genoa for Quebec, struck on a reef, near the Magdalen Islands, on the 14th of November, and sunk with all on board, save one. The crew consisted of twenty-one men, besides the captain and his wife. We condense from the Montreal Gazette of the 24th inst. the narrative of the only survivor, Daniel Samson, the first mate:

On the tenth day we sprung aleak and all hands were at the pumps 216 hours, when we made the port of Marsellies and remained fifteen days for repairs. On the 24th day of August we left for Quebec, and had a very fair passage until we made the Canso light on the coast of Nova Scotia. We took on a pilot then, who took the ship to Cape Porcupine.—The course pursued from that place to the Magdalen Islands was due west. We then altered the course from west by north half north. Seven days after, (on the 14th of November,) in the second mate's watch, as near as I can recollect at about ten o'clock, when I went below to the cabin, Captain Alexander and his wife were playing cards, when I joined them and played about two hours, when all at once we felt a heavy shock and the crash of the main and foremasts. I rushed up from the cabin, and all was confusion on deck, the men running about and calling upon God to save them. I think it was about six minutes from the time we struck the rock when the ship went down with all on board except myself and the second mate. We were clinging to a small piece of deal about five feet long and seven inches wide. He had hold of one end of the stick and I was near the centre, but moved toward the other end. He had his boots, coat and pants on; I had removed my boots and coat, and found it much easier to float. He remained with me about an hour, when he cried out, "Oh my God!" and sank. The end of the stick that I had hold of began to sink, and I grasped it more in the centre and tied myself on as well as I could. I remembered everything quite distinctly until the second day, when I was so cold that I thought I should sink, but the stick held me up. I have no remembrance of anything else until I found myself on board of a steamer, commanded by Captain McGinnis, bound for Campbleton. He told me that he picked me up about fifteen miles below White River, more dead than alive. I had been in the water from 11:50 on Saturday night until Tuesday at 9 A. M. On Wednesday morning, at 10 o'clock, he landed me at White River, and directed me to Mr. Noble, who gave me a pair of pants and boots, for which I sincerely express my thanks. I have also to thank Mr. E. Grant Powell and Mr. Kimpton, of Trois Pistoles, for clothing and assistance to get to Quebec.

RECENT PUBLICATIONS.—Harper & Brothers of New York have just published a very interesting book entitled "Wild Sports of the World," by James Greenwood.

This book is just what it purports to be, a book of natural history and adventure and is one of those rare productions which contain no passages that the reader desires to "skip."

Here one may learn all about the elephant, lion, gorilla, rhinoceros, tiger and other wild animals, their structure and habits, the mode of hunting them and a thousand and one things at once entertaining and instructive It has one hundred and forty-seven illustrations and would be a valuable addition to any library. For sale by Loring, Short & Harmon.

Harper & Brothers have published, and Loring, Short & Harmon have for sale, Haydn's Dictionary of Dates, one of the most useful, and we might almost say indispensable books ever published. It is as full of matter as an "egg is full of meat," and comprehends a brief account of almost if not quite every remarkable occurrence in the world's history, including the foundation, laws and governments of countries, their progress in arts, science and literature, their achievements in arms, and their civil, military, religious and philanthropic institutions.

It is in short a chronicle and chronology of the world's progress, brought down to the present year. This work is everywhere accepted as authority, and this new edition is meeting with a cordial reception throughout the country. Thousands of volumes ought to be sold in Maine, and we hope to learn that the sale is equal to its merits.

HORACE GREELEY has written a letter to Gen. Butler on the absolute necessity of the triumph of the fifteenth amendment to the success of Gen. Grant's administration. He concludes his letter in the following words, which is a summary of the whole epistle:

The country regards you as the leader in Congress of those who have been most exacting in their requirements of the defeated rebels and least inclined to treat them with confidence or even generosity. The reproaches which I have incurred in this quarter will never attach to you, and your adhesion to the policy which the occasion demands will never be attributed to weakness or sentimentality. I ask you therefore to place yourself promptly and heartily at the head of a movement looking to the instant and complete removal of all political disabilities whatever from any or every one who favors or shall favor the fifteenth amendment, and their prompt restoration to all the privileges of citizenship.

PETROLEUM SPECULATION.—The Maine correspondent of a Boston paper says: "The speculation in petroleum in Canada and Pennsylvania occasioned a loss to citizens of this State amounting at least to one million of dollars. Parties in Bath were great sufferers. It has come to pass that an attempt has been made in the eastern section of Maine to revive the petroleum fever and catch gudgeons by reporting discoveries of oil in the town of Pembroke. The game, however, has failed to work, and the getter-up of the sensation has had his labor for his pains. It seems that the crude oil that was found was procured at the iron works in that town, and distributed in a secluded spot on a piece of land.

THE New York Tribune justifies the admission of a letter from James Fisk, jr., to its columns on the ground that they are open to all classes of men—to negroes, Mahometans, rebels, and lately to Mormons.

Letter from Mechanic Falls.

MECHANIC FALLS, Nov. 26, 1869.

To the Editor of the Press:

The principal business carried on at this village is paper manufacturing. Messrs. A. C. Dennison & Co., have five mills in constant operation, turning out about one hundred tons a month, and giving employment to one hundred and fifty persons. They have made large outlays each year for several years, in putting in the most approved water wheels, machinery, &c. Last year they put in a new stone dam and erected a large brick mill with a foundation sufficient to resist any pressure that can be bfought to bear upon it. But for this precaution the recent freshets would have been very disastrous. There are but few establishments of the kind in the country with better facilities for manufacturing fine book paper than this. The proprietors combine long experience in the business, with the advantage afforded by a safe and reliable water power and as good machinery as the country affords. They have one mill running on newspaper entirely, and are supplying nearly all the leading papers in this State and several in Boston and New York.

CLOTHING MANUFACTURING.

This has been the centre of an immense business in the manufacture of clothing for several years. Mr. J. A. Buchanan has had some years 2,500 names on his books of persons to whom he has given out clothing to be made. This year the firm of J. A. Buchanan & Co. are employing about one thousand persons. Messrs. Dwinal, Goldermann & Co., are employing about the same number. They have made up about 15,000 garments during the last three months.

MORAL AND RELIGIOUS.

The leading business men of this village have always been ready to encourage amusements of a strictly moral tendency and discourage all demoralizing influences. The sale of intoxicating liquors or gambling establishments are not tolerated, while dramatic entertainments, lectures, singing schools and other social gatherings are liberally patronized. A dramatic association, composed of seventeen young men and ladies, are giving entertainments once a month, which are well attended. Their last play, "Ten Nights in a Bar-room," is said to have given unusual satisfaction, and some of the parts were as well played as at the theatres with much greater pretensions.—Prof. Rix has opened a singing school which is quite generally patronized. The stores are to be closed one night in a week so as to give all employed therein an opportunity to attend religious meetings or places of amusement. The removal of Rev. Mr. Gaines, to New York, will be a great loss to this community and the State. Mr. Gaines is not only an able preacher but an excellent citizen, always ready to contribute time or money to the extent of his ability in any cause which has for its object the moral, intellectual or physical improvement of the race. While he is unwavering in the belief of the doctrines he preaches he never indulges in denunciations of those who honestly differ in opinion. At a meeting of the committee of the society to which he belongs, a series of resolutions were passed expressing their high regard and esteem for Mr. Gaines, and their sorrow that the relation of pastor and people so mutually pleasant for five years, was to be severed. Mr. Gaines has taken great interest in Sabbath Schools, temperance and whatever else might contribute to the happiness or welfare of the people. C.

The Late Lord Derby.

The late Lord Derby came of a family of horse racers, gamblers and cock fighters—though an "honorable family" for all that.—His grandfather kept a cock pit in Bolton, a great, dingy, brick building, which yet stands and is even now known by no other name than "The Cock Pit"—though used for other purposes than cock fighting.

The grandfather used to come to Bolton on the sporting days, with his carriage all hung around, from the roof, with fighting cocks—each in a canvas bag, with only the head exposed to view—shouting defiance to each other all the way.

In his last illness, he had cock-fighting in his dressing room, then in his chamber, and when too ill to rise, on his bed. Such is the story I heard often in Bolton and elsewhere in England. D.

The News.

There was due observance of "Evacuation Day" in New York, Thursday.

The report of the recall of Mr. Burlingame's Chinese embassy is pronounced untrue.

The New York Sun does not shine for Gen. Grant now, but has made a ridiculous attack upon him.

It is rumored that Admiral D. D. Porter with Gens. Burnside and McCook are going in the man-of-war Frolic to see what terms can be made for the purchase of Hayti and San Domingo.

In Newfoundland the elections have resulted even more favorable to the anti-confederates than at first supposed. Full returns show that 21 anti-confederates and 9 confederates have been elected.

Late advices from the Phillipine islands say a formidable reactionary conspiracy had been discovered at Manilla. Many arrests were made. The principal person implicated committed suicide when he found that the scheme had been frustrated.

The Spanish consul at New York declares that no more Spanish men-of-war are expected at that port, and that his government has no intention of making a hostile demonstration against this country on account of the seizure of the Spanish gunboats.

Government officers were busy in New York Saturday, seizing books of numerous mercantile firms suspected of not using revenue stamps in their business. Several were seized while stamps on back matters were being hurried on to the books and being cancelled. The government is bound to break up the practice of not using revenue stamps.

Edward Everett Hale will be the editor of the magazine called the "Old and New," which is to be issued in Boston on the first of January. It will not be exactly a Unitarian magazine, though issued under Unitarian auspices. It will resemble Harper more than any existing magazine, but the first number will contain no illustrations.

In the case of John Latham, Thomas Wheeler and Asa Fuller, indicted at Utica, N. Y., for an assault upon Frederick Hyland with intent to kill, the jury rendered a verdict of guilty against Latham, and found Wheeler and Fuller guilty of assault and battery. Latham was sentenced to four years imprisonment at hard labor in the State prison, and the others to eight months in jail.

The Russian papers report that several villages in Lithuania were recently visited by an unusually large wolf, from the adjacent forests, which in a few hours tore in pieces three peasants, (two women and a man) and more or less wounded thirty-one persons and fifty-four head of cattle. The fearful raid was made in the night time; the people were seized unawares, so that they could do but little in self-defence. The animal was subsequently surrounded in the woods and killed. The beast was to all appearances afflicted with hydrophobia, and the persons who survived his attack have been treated so as to ward off this dreadful malady.

The Russian town of Jeniseik, in Eastern Siberia, was completely destroyed by fire on the 8th of September. The fira originated in a turf moor, which had been smouldering for some years, and during a violent storm burst into a sea of flames, which seized the nearest house about eleven o'clock in the forenoon thence spreading over the whole city. At eight o'clock in the evening 1300 houses (mostly wooden, but thirty-five of great size), six churches, two cloisters, all the stores, and an immense amount of grain (about two million pounds) were destroyed. The fearful rapidity with which the flames spread prevented the people in nearly every case from preserving their goods. Over one hundred corpses were found charred in the streets, and as many more are said to have been drowned in the water.

The Nashville Banner reports a terrible affair which happened twelve miles from that city, on the Clarksville Pike, on Sunday morning. It was the murder of a man and three little children, by Jo. Barton, the husband and father. Mrs. Barton and her children had retired to rest, all in the same bed, Saturday night, and after midnight Barton, who had been away, returned and cut their throats.—The murder was not discovered till ten o'clock Sunday morning, when a farmer on his way to church observed the house fastened, no smoke rising from the chimney, and no sign of life. He went to the door and knocked, and failing to receive any response, he burst open the door and entered, when the terrible sight of the murdered family met his sight. Barton had fled.

John L. Barton, a New York Custom House broker, was arrested Friday on a complaint charging him with having given bribes to the amount of $2300 to two weighers for the purpose of procuring false returns of weights of coffee imported by a firm for which he was agent. He was committed to jail, and it is said to be the intention of the authorities after the prosecution for bribery, to bring a civil action for the recovery of the duties.

Mr. Edwin Belcher, a colored man and an assessor of the Third Georgia, (Augusta) District, writes to the Internal Revenue Bureau in Washington that James B. Wilson, an assistant collector in Taliaferro and Wilkes counties, has been driven from his office by a note, somewhat in the order of the warnings issued by the late Ku-Klux Klan, ordering him to leave the country. His office was broken open, his books and papers stolen and the note left on his desk.

A little girl nine years old was outraged by a man named Schepmons, near Ellenville, Ulster county, N. Y., on Saturday evening. She was found by her father and his neighbors about midnight, terribly mutilated, but still living. On Sunday the news reached Ellenville, and divine service in the churches was stopped to enable the enraged citizens to hunt the villain. He was finally captured, confessed the crime, and on Tuesday was sentenced to fifteen years in the State Prison at Sing-Sing.

Stockwell, Ill, and Indianapolis, Ind., were astonished by heavy thunder and sharp lightning during a snow storm on Sunday noon. On Saturday morning about 4 o'clock the students at the University in Charlottesville, Va., were startled by two successive peals, as if of thunder, though very much louder, proceeding from some unknown cause. The top of Doctor Maupin's chimney was knocked off, and the inmates of the house were very much alarmed. The effect of the shock was felt in different parts of the town, and the scientific dwellers at the University could not explain it.

The subject of persons holding two offices at the same time is again under consideration by the Departments, and it is not improbable that the heads of bureaus will unite in asking Congress for the passage of a law prohibiting United States civil officers from holding official positions under State or municipal laws. It is held that the practice which has so largely obtained lately works great injury to the Government business. The subject has been again brought up in consequence of the number of revenue officers, especially in North Carolina, who hold State positions which divide the attention of the officer.

Vincent Collyer, the special Alaska Commissioner arrived at Omaha from Sitka on Thursday, performing the journey in twenty-two days, and touching at all the principal points. He traveled over 3,000 miles along the coast of Alaska, and found the Indians to the number of over 70,000. They are of a very superior order; have large droves of cattle; raise crops to some extent, and live in villages with well-constructed houses. They are all peaceful, and partial to America. Mr. Collyer has visited over two-thirds of all the Indian tribes in the United States, starting on his tour last February. He was everywhere received by the Indians with kindness. He thinks the purchase of Alaska a judicious measure.

Gen. Jordan of the Cuban army has been removed from the command of the Eastern Department and made Chief-of-Staff, is warmly defended by his friends from the charge of desiring to abandon the patriot cause. A Cuban writing to the New York Tribune says: "The change of duty from the command of the Eastern Department to his present position of Chief-of-Staff was a promotion, and accomplished in order that his great talent for organizing could be availed of at Headquarters. He was made Chief-of-Staff in June last, and the slander was started last month. The people of the United States may rest assured that the Cubans love, esteem, and have every confidence in Gen. Jordan, and trust he may live to be in our history what Lafayette was in yours."

Mr. Richardson who was shot, Thursday, in the Tribune office, passed a comfortable night Friday. Although the attending physicians do not conceal the fact that he is in the greatest danger, they give reasons to hope for a favorable result. Mrs. McFarland and her mother came on from Charlestown, Mass., Friday, and are attending him. A telegram of condolement has been sent by Colfax, Ben; Perley Poore and others. Geo. Francis Train telegraphed—"Assassination cannot stop destiny. God spare you, my dear Richardson." McFarland's counsel publishes a card, saying:

Thursday, at 3-45 o'clock, McFarland was at my office in dreadful state of excitement bordering on insanity, and there with tears informed me that his wife had obtained either in Indiana or Illinois a divorce without his knowledge, and had married Richardson, and they were living together as man and wife in New Jersey, and that Richardson was selling his real estate there, so as to avoid the execution that must be issued on the judgment for damages he expected to recover against him in their pending suit for damages, and that he understood that Richardson meant to go to California and live there.

State News.

ANDROSCOGGIN COUNTY.

We take the two following stories from the Lewiston Journal:

A certain lawyer of this city went into a shoe store some time since and inquired for a pair of boots. Jocosely the dealer handed out a pair of odd ones, one boot being a size larger than its mate. The lawyer tried on the smallest one, found it fitted well, and said he "guessed he would take them." "Perhaps you'd better try the other one on," said the shoe man. The legal gentleman tried on the other boots, and after getting up and tramping about, remarked, "Why, I never noticed that one of my feet was larger than the other before, but sure, it looks like it, don't it?" The shoe dealer conned the feet, and certainly it seemed to him that one foot had the advantage of the other. Not suspecting that one boot could be larger than the other, the lawyer paid for the pair and walked off, sorrowfully looking at his supposed deformity. A month or two afterwards the joke was explained, and the legal party hasn't been seen with those boots on his feet since. Perhaps he means the boot shall be on the other leg some day.

A Lisbon St., merchant, who keeps a nobby team, has been accustomed to remove the nut which holds the wheel on the front axle, and bring it into his house nights, so that if his team was stolen the wheel would come off and the thieves would break down. One morning a short time ago, he thought he would take a drive and started off, forgetting, however, to replace the nut, and the consequence may better be imagined than described. The horse struck a rapid gait, off came the wheel, and down in the dust rolled the driver and the friend who accompanied him. We believe the nut was not taken off after that.

We Live in three Climates.

In this country we have at different seasons of the year, the temperature of three climates. Our Springs and Autumns have a softness and mildness that belong only to the Temperate Zones; our Midsummers are torrid, and our Mid-winters almost arctic in their frigidity. These changes, involving a variation of from ninety to one hundred degrees of Fahrenheit during the year, are upon the whole conductive to health and long life, but they tend to entail upon some distressing complaints which can only be escaped by the exercise of due care and the use of a proper antidote when the system is predisposed to contract them. The chief and most annoying of these disorders is dyspepsia, once supposed to be incurable, but which, since the introduction of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, now about twenty years ago, has proved to be a perfectly manageable disease.

In the Spring and Fall, but more especially in the Fall, the symptoms of dyspepsia are generally aggravated. The profuse expenditure of the animal fluids under the burning sun of Summer, is apt to leave the stomach weak and indolent and incompetent to the task of perfect digestion. It requires a tonic which will rouse it from its lethargy, brace and invigorate without irritating or inflaming it. This tonic has been provided in the wonderful vegetable preparation which has replaced in a great measure, all the old pilliatives formerly prescribed by physians, under the false idea that the disorder could not be radically cured. The success of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS in all the varieties of dyspepsia, acute or chronic, has effectually exploded this fallacy, and it is now recommended as a specific for indigestion by some of the medical profession. no29deod&w1t

JUDGE KINGSBURY PRESIDING.

SATURDAY.—James O'Hara was brought up on two complaints. One charged him with larceny of clothing from the dwelling house of Jonathan Dow on Free street; the other with larceny of clothing from the dwelling house of Martha Roberts on Newbury street. He pleaded not guilty, waived an examination and furnished sureties in the sum of $50 on each complaint for his appearance at the January term of the Superior Court.

ART.—This morning Hale will put on exhibition in his window a fine marine by Harry Brown, representing the great storm of the 20th inst. at Portland Light. All our readers who were so fortunate as to read the descriptive and poetical article on the storm at the Cape by Mr. Elwell in the last week's Transcript will see that the artist has caught the writer's idea at once. The waves rushing over Tundy's Beef in clouds of foam in the distance, the great green billows swooping upon the rocks in the foreground, the clouds of spray dashing above the fog tower, while in the left of the foreground under the huge cliffs on which the light-house stands, is a dense mass of cream colored fluid caused by the churning of the waves in the great chasm that exists there.—The waves are made, as is proper, the leading feature of the picture. Overhead the clouds are just breaking away and a ray of sun-light strikes upon the tower while in the distance the heavy wind-clouds still lower.

Geo. L. Brown's great picture, the "Fountain of Trevy" at Rome, is on exhibition in the gallery, having arrived on Saturday last. This fountain was erected by Clement XII. in 1735, and is therefore, among the more modern works of art. From a niche in the centre of the magnificent architectural pile—on the left of the foreground—the water streams forth, while the figure, forming the fountain proper, is Neptune in his car drawn by horses and surrounded by Tritons. A tessellated pavement occupies the foreground, and on the right stands a palace, in front of which a steam fire engine is standing, the artist desiring to contrast moonlight and firelight. In the background can be seen the dim outline of buildings and shrubbery, while over the whole picture streams a flood of moonlight which serves to display most effectually the grandeur of the work of the architect, and dances upon the ripples made by the plashing waters. The sky, and the architecture of the fountain are the finest features in the painting. The water is weak.

BROWN AND RANDALL.—A short time ago we stated that we had heard a story that Brown and Randall, the oarsmen, were stopping in England as witnesses in a suit against the Inman line of steamers, and that their expenses were being paid by the plaintiff in the suit. We are authorized to state the following particulars:—There were two ladies injured instead of one. Both fell through the skylight of the steamer over the engine a distance of thirty feet, injuring them severely. Both instituted an action against the Company, the damages being laid at £6000. All the passengers who witnessed the accident (with the exception of Walter Brown) gave their evidence freely, before solicitors, without delay to any of them. Neither of the injured ladies are paying the expenses of witnesses, nor have they done so. As regards Walter Brown, on the arrival of the steamer at Liverpool he generously offered his evidence to the husbands of both ladies, stating that he was a shipbuilder, knew the requirements of the law relating to such places on shipboard, and spoke in emphatic terms of the culpable negligence of the company in having such places exposed for people to fall into. Mr. Brown was thanked kindly for his offer, but has not been asked to give his evidence in behalf of either of the injured parties, much less has he been supported by them. Our informant states that it is reported that Brown is now a witness for the Inman Steamship Company against the injured ladies.

M. L. A.—The regular meeting of the Association took place on Saturday evening last when the "early closing movement" was taken up. Messrs. C. H. Fling, Geo. L. Swett and Hon. Geo. W. Woodman argued the question with great ability, and upon its being put to vote the resolution that "the movement is demoralizing in its tendencies" was refused a passage.

The chairman of the Committee on Debate reported the following motion for discussion on next Saturday evening:

Resolved, That the Portland & Ogdensburg Railroad is the only feasible railway communication between Portland and the West.

The following gentlemen were elected by the Association as disputants: Hon. G. W. Woodman in the affirmative; Thomas Lynch, Esq., in the negative.

THE UNITED STATES HOTEL.—If anybody wants to know how to keep a hotel they must put up a few days at the United States. Under the new proprietors, Messrs. Burrell's, Thomes & Gibson, everything goes on like clock-work. The rooms are attended to with the strictest care, the table is served with the delicacies and substantials of the season well cooked, the servants are extremely attentive, and the clerks are polite and obliging. The house has long enjoyed a high reputation and a large share of the public patronage, but it was never so deserving of it as now.—The prices are moderate, but the proprietors can well afford to make them so while they enjoy such a run of custom.

REVENUE STEAMER MAHONING.—This steamer has recently undergone a change in her machinery, and is now one of the finest vessels afloat. Orders were issued Friday from the Treasury Department for her to proceed to this port, and resume her duties at this station. Her officers are Capt. John A. Webster; jr., 1st Lieutenant, Joseph Irish; 3d Lieutenants, James M. Simmes and Robert Barstow; Chief Engineer, F. A. D. Bremen; First Assistant Engineer, Wm. D. Kay.

MR. AND MRS. HOWARD PAUL.—Appearances are that the Army and Navy Union will have a splendid audience at City Hall to-night to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Howard Paul. We have no need to say more than it will be a fine entertainment, which will please all classes of people. Tickets only fifty cents. See their advertisement. Arrangements will be made to accommodate the audience with horse cars, both on the city and Westbrook lines, at the close of the entertainments.

GOOD TIME COMING.—The Scotsmen of Portland and vicinity intend celebrating St. Andrew's Day with an assembly at Lancaster Hall. All persons desirous of spending a pleasant evening are cordially invited to be present. The managers intend that the present festival shall not be surpassed by any heretofore given by the Society.

BRIEF JOTTINGS.—Mrs. Stevens, residing on South street, had a valuable velvet cloak, hat and nice poplin dress stolen from the house Friday.—Henry Pugsley, a clothes stealer in York county, was the man arrested on Friday night by reason of a dispatch received.—A sailor fell overboard from Custom House wharf Friday morning. Officer Houston saved his life.—Joshua Davis, William H. Melcher, Thomas G. Loring, Rufus Cushman, George Worcester and Stephen H. Webb were drawn as jurors on Friday last to serve during the present term of the Supreme Court.—The types Saturday morning made us call Miss Alida Topp "the finest pianist who had ever visited this city." That was rather a sweeping statement. It should have read "one of the finest."—Hon. William Parsons, the celebrated Irish orator, will be the next lecturer before the M. L. A.—The new Whitman car stove is now being brought to the attention of railroad men pretty generally, and is everywhere endorsed as a great invention.—The Sebago water was introduced into houses on State street on Saturday, and the pressure on the hydrants on Cumberland street ascertained.—A young man overcome by liquor was rolled in the blue mud on Portland Pier Saturday before a highly amused crowd of Irishmen. His friend placed two hogsheads before him to screen him from observation, while the inebriate's last words were, "Bill, old fellow, (hic) just lick those fellers grinning at me, will yer?"—The weather Saturday was decidedly disagreeable. Snow, half frozen rain, and a raw wind, with cloudy skies.—The receipts of flour in this city via the G. T. Railway were 8995 barrels the past week. There were also received for shipment to the Provinces via same road 7300 barrels flour.—At a meeting of the proprietors of the Third Parish Church, held Friday evening, it was voted that the Treasurer be instructed to pay those who do not wish to take pews in Central Church the value of their pews in the Third Parish. This will amicably settle the difficulty that has existed among the proprietors.—Forty marble workers were discharged from work on the new Post Office on Saturday.—Hon. John Lynch leaves for Washington this morning.—Bright, sunny day yesterday, but very cold.—A man broke his leg on Federal street Saturday by slipping on the icy sidewalk.

SILVER WEDDING IN GORHAM.—C. C. Parker D. D., pastor of the First Congregational Society in Gorham celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of his wedding on Friday evening last at the parsonage. The occasion brought together a large company of parishioners and friends. Although there are those living who attended the original ceremony in a distant State none of them were present on this occasion. One son and three daughters, constituting the entire family of children, were pleased to congratulate their father and mother that the family group had remained unbroken and that happiness and prosperity had been their fire-side and constant friend. A variety of suitable presents from different members of the family were among the pleasant incidents of the occasion. Before the company separated Judge John A. Waterman, with very appropriate remarks, in behalf of the members of the Congregational society presented to Dr. and Mrs. Parker a full silver tea service consisting of seven pieces, also a beautiful silver cake-basket &c., purchased by donations from younger members of the Sabbath School, together with a purse of money collected from the gentlemen of the parish, in all amounting to $200. Dr. Parker and family were completely surprised by these tokens of love and affection, but the Doctor was able to respond in a very happy and feeling manner. Our Unitarian friends, who make up in zeal what they fail to find in numbers, were on hand, and gave their countenance to the affair by well directed efforts of a substantial character. One lady in a few hours collected sixty dollars, and others did as well. All the articles were purchased at the store of C. W. Wingate, 119 Middle street, who also generously added a valuable present of his own. The whole affair was exceedingly pleasant, and as the line of ladies and gentlemen took their departure, they left other evidences of their attachment and friendship which are usually confined to friends of younger years.

SUNDAY EVENING LECTURES.—Rev. Mr. Root delivered the introductory lecture of his promised course on Church History, &c., at St. Paul's Church last evening to a very good congregation, nearly every seat in the house being occupied. The speaker laid down the premise that we must agree that the Christian church is of divine appointment. Its history is the history of God's gracious fulfillment of the promise to Eve that her seed should bruise the serpent's head. The church is of a two-fold nature, visible and material, invisible and spiritual; visible in its formation and ordinances and invisible in its connection with its Great Head. The church of the first dispensation, down to the time of the rending of the veil of the Temple, was a witness of laws which are binding on us, and its ceremonies prove God's design for a visible church.

The Christian church was established by the apostles, who were called by our Saviour for the special purpose of receiving His own spirit and learning His own intent and design. That it was intended to be perpetuated is indicated in the command to go and preach to all the world, showing that as the world was to exist for generations they were to continue the work through their successors. It was to be a permanent church, for He promised to found it on a rock and the powers of hell should not prevail against it. It had been assailed from all ages, by schism and heresy on the one hand and infidelity on the other, but its integrity has been preserved. The speaker also urged upon his hearers the importance of having and holding the doctrine of a visible church.

Our sketch is but an imperfect outline of a very able and interesting lecture, delivered with great earnestness, and well received.

"Odd Fellows' Relief."

MR. EDITOR:—Will you allow one of your subscribers a small space in your paper, for the purpose of calling the attention of the "Odd Fellows" of Portland and vicinity to the prospective advantage to be derived by their wives or relatives on their decease, by now connecting themselves with the "Odd Fellow's Relief Association." To the many in the Order who are unable to spare from their scanty earnings a sufficient amount to secure a respectable 'Policy' in a regular Life Insurance Company these lines are more especially addressed. Some of you will ere long be called to bid adieu to earth and loved ones, and is it not your manifest duty to provide for their future as well as present events as far as possible?

How many widows have had their sorrow intensified by the relentless hand of poverty when it had been otherwise, had others, before death, made the possible and necessary provision for those they were to leave behind. The association has been in existence but a short time, yet its numbers are counted by hundreds. Every Odd Fellow in this vicinity, who is not incapacitated by age or otherwise, should at once become a member. This is done by the payment of $2, and no assessment being called for until the death of a member; the aggregate amount of which goes to made good in the Treasury that which has been furnished to the widow or other relatives of the decersed brother, viz., as many dollars as the association contains members. Whoever conceived the plan of such an association is entitled to, and will receive the blessing of many a suffering beneficiary in the future. A MEMBER.

POLICE.—Richard Sweetsir, who was hired on Saturday last to assist a man named Boyd remove furniture from the house of a Mrs. Haines, on Free street, stole a pair of shoes and afterwards sold them to a man named C. W. Groves, or at least Groves says so, for the sum of fifty cents. Groves afterwards offered to sell them to Mrs. Graves, in Stafford Block. Boyd saw Sweetsir carry the shoes off and told officer Farr, and he arrested both Sweetsir and Groves.

John O'Brion and Peter King got drunk and commenced to pound each other, when they were arrested.

Cornelius McLaughlin arrested for stealing the clothes from Mrs. Stevens, on South street, on Friday last, is quietly reposing at the station house.

Stephen Devine for an assault on Barney Flaherty, a short time ago, will make his bow to Judge Kingsbury to-morrow morning.

Quite a number of lodgers and a few drunks on hand last night.

THAT ROOSTER.—We hear that there is great complaint among the residents in the vicinity of the old Hull Candle Factory because that rooster has been removed from the summit. They say that the nine o'clock bell sinks into insignificance as a source of grievance compared with the removal of the rooster; that that cheerful effigy is connected in their minds with their earliest recollections; that the first they can remember is shying stones at it, and that without it they are unable mornings to tell the state of the weather. If, then, they say, the building is to be removed let the noble bird be placed upon the one erected in its stead, or upon some other promiuent one in that locality.

UNDER the winter arrangements for running upon the Portland & Rochester Railroad, the "Dummy," which has heretofore been run between Saco River and Alfred will be discontinued and all trains will be hauled by a locomotive.

COTTON.—The well-known dry goods house of Mr. A. T. Stewart, New York, has an agent in town introducing their new "Sterling" spool-cotton. With characteristic energy and foresight, they propose to distribute gratuitously a large quantity of the thread among the ladies, that they may have an opportunity to test its merits. It will be for sale by our principal merchants.

The name of Mr. Stewart is a strong recommendation to anything to which it is attached, whether a spool of thread or a check for half a million.

DRAMATIC READINGS.—We understand that a very pleasant entertainment for the benefit of St. Paul's Church will take place to-morrow week, the 7th of December, at Congress Hall. Mr. Murray, the British Consul, will read Trench's "Mary Shea," Burn's "Tam O'Shanter," Dickens' "Sairey Gamp," and other selections, while between the selections there will be music by Mrs. Merrill, Miss Strout and Messrs. Shaw and Gilmore.

A MILE OF CABINET ORGANS would seem a large number, yet if the instruments manufactured and sold by the Mason & Hamlin Organ Co. during the past year alone were placed close together in a line, they would reach a distance of more than three miles, or if arranged three in a tier, would make a solid wall, nine feet in height, around the Boston Common. We hardly know which is the more surprising, the demand now existing for these organs, or the improvement made in them during the past few years; that which was formerly a weak and inefficient instrument, becoming possessed of such qualities of tone and variety of expression as to command the unequivocal praise of artists and connoisseurs, both in this country and Europe. It is not strange, therefore, that the Cabinet organ is fast taking its place as the favorite parlor instrument amongst all classes of society.—Boston Traveller.

COMPLETION OF THE BANGOR & PISCATAQUIS RAILROAD TO FOXCROFT.

BANGOR, Nov. 28.—The last rail of the Bangor & Piscatquis Railroad was laid at Foxcroft Friday afternoon. The whistle of the locomotive was answered by the ringing of the church and factory bells, which called together a large impromptu meeting, at which congratulatory speeches were made. The road will be opened to regular traffic about December 15th. A movement is to be made the coming winter to extend the road beyond the present terminus.

It is not true that the Navy Department is sending iron-clads to New York. THE SPANISH FLEET.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The Spanish war steamers that were expected to rendezvous in the harbor it is now stated will not come at all. They were to have gone upon the dock at the Brooklyn navy yard for repairs, but one of them is too large for the dock and the fleet will probably go to Philadelphia.

A. D. RICHARDSON.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The condition of Albert D. Richardson, who was shot by McFarland on Thursday evening last, was very critical to-day. He begins to show signs of physical exhaustion. The ball has not been extracted and any attempt at present would, it is believed, be fatal. He is kept under the influence of strong doses of morphine injected under the skin.

LATER—midnight.—This evening unfavorable symptoms have developed in the case of Albert D. Richardson, which occasions his friends anxiety. Previously his symptoms have been unexpectedly favorable. Two physicians are constantly in attendance upon him, and he receives every possible attention.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 29.—The following petition has, within the past three days, secured over 13,000 signatures in this city, and before the meeting of Congress it is estimated that it will be signed by 40,000 persons:

To the Honorable the Congress of the United States:—We, the undersigned, citizens of the United States, in the interest of human liberty respectfully petition your honorable body to accord to the infant rebels of Cuba the right of a belligerent power and to recognize her independence. We urge this prayer for the reason that she has successfully withstood a foreign tyrany for more than a year, during which she has established her just claims to be acknowledged among the powers of the earth by organizing a constitution and representative government, by emancipation of her slaves, by proclaiming freedom of conscience and speech, by providing for universal education and by other wise legislation advancing the cause of liberty and equality, and because her sons in their prolonged struggle have shown endurance, patriotism and the valor of a great and free people. We invoke your immediate action, in the fervent belief that your compliance with our prayers will signally benefit humanity and redound to the glory of the country.

A TELEGRAPH STORY DENIED.

HAVANA, Nov. 27.—The dispatch published in the N. Y. Tribune of yesterday and telegraphed here that a Spanish fleet has been ordered to rendezvous in New York harbor, and that President Grant had ordered United States vessels of war to cruise in said harbor, is commented on by the Diario in its issue of to-day. The Diario refutes the statement that any Spanish fleet has received orders to go to New York, and characterizes the story as an invention of the friends of the insurgents, and says the Tribune's object is to excite the American people against Spain. The Diario advises its friends among the Americans not to place any reliance in such rumors, which are started by conspirators and published for the purpose of producing irritation.

Mysteries of New York.

The mysteries of a large city are strange and startling. The New York correspondent of the Rochester Democrat, referring to mysterious matters occurring occasionally in the city, calls up the following reminiscences:

One most striking instance was found a few years ago in the history of George Schuyler. He was of the firm of R. & G. Schuyler, who were the heaviest railroad operators of the day. They failed, previous to which they issued a large amount of spurious stock of the New Haven Railroad (of which one of them was president,) and their failure, of course, created great excitement. It also developed the fact that George Schuyler, a bachelor of over fifty, had a wife and family living up town. His children were grown up and went by the name of Spicer, that being the name borne by their father while he was in his own domestic circle. Sometime after that, another bachelor, Daniel Angevine by name, died leaving a handsome estate, the fruit of merchandise. His kindred were about to claim it when a widow and family appears suddenly and contests the claim. The testimony went to show that the man known in New York as Daniel Angevine, had for years passed in Williamsburg by the name of Smith, and the claims of Mrs. Smith were sustained by the courts. I know not how many similar cases may have occurred, but two of very striking character have come beneath my own observation. The first was that of Mr. H. N. F., once a heavy flour dealer in West street. He was a bachelor of fifty years or more, an enterprising and successful business man and an honest and estimable member of the great community of trade. Every morning he appeared at his store at seven o'clock and every night at dark he left, but whence he came or whither he went no one knew. Neither his head clerk nor his most intimate friends had any clue to his abode. Frequently it was said to him, Mr. F., "you may be taken ill and we should want to see you, where shall we come?" "Never mind," was the reply. "If I am taken sick you will hear from me." If any one pressed the inquiry a short answer was made, and it was generally understood that Mr. F. desired no allusion to be made to his residence. Sometimes attempts were made to track him up, but he always eluded pursuit in the crowd and darkness of a thronged street, and the off-twenty years mystery was only solved by his death, in a manner similar to that of Mr. Schuyler. The second instance occurred last week, and was in this wise: I have for a quarter of a century, that is from his boyhood up, known a person named P. He was a quiet and retiring character, and became a confirmed bachelor. About five years ago his father died, leaving him executor to his estate. He boarded a part of the time far up town and part of the time in Brooklyn. During an illness, to which he was subject, three years ago, his friends, called on him, and not liking the appearance of the place, advised him to seek another boarding house. Little did they dream that this was his own establishment. A few weeks ago he sent to this city for a physician, whom he had known fifteen years, to make him a professional visit. The messenger had a rude one-horse wagon, and in this the doctor was conveyed to a shabby and dilapidated house in the surburbs of Brooklyn, where he found P—— sick-a-bed and rapidly sinking. His disease was acute and reached a hopeless stage. A woman of rather degraded appearance and several children entered the room, and P—— astonished the physician by the announcement that they were his wife and offspring. He died next day, and his friends met at the funeral this strange and unexpected family. Here was a very startling denouement. Who, indeed, who knew him as the lively bachelor mingling in the best of society in this city, could have dreamed that he had a vulgar, ill-bred wife, and family of miserable children hidden away from all his friends; and yet this is but a small specimen of the mysteries and miseries of New York.

THE method pursued by me in fitting Spectacles can be found in recent works on the Eye by Stellwag, Lawrence, Moore, Williams and others. It is the only one which even approximates to accuracy, and which keeps the eye in its best condition. Every reliable Oculist will recommend it as the only correct method known.

It is extensively practised in all the larger cities of this country and in Europe, but is usually attended by considerable additional expense, as the eye is fitted by the Oculist and the correct glasses then purchased of the the Optician. The fitting and furnishing being united, no extra charge is made above the ordinary price of the glasses.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unbidden tenant of the organism undermines the constitution and invites the attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, fatal cancles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required to subdue these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Ulcerous Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are completely subdued by it, and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice or Inflammation as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Dyspeptic, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

COME

Let us Reason Together.

How can any person manufacture Confectionery and sell it at fifteen cents a pound, when sugar is worth sixteen cents at the refinery (unless it is terribly adulterated?)

How can any dealer retail such a vile compound to his customers and have a conscience void of offence?

How can any consumer expect to purchase pure Confectionery at twenty-five and thirty cents per pound, when a pure article cannot be manufactured less than thirty to forty cents per pound, consisting of cassia buds, burnt almonds, and such class of goods?

Within a few days we have been offered cassia buds, etc., for fifteen cents per pound, and Chocolate Creams at twenty cents, and the agent acknowledged that they were adulterated ten per cent. with Terra Alba; and it is a fact that tons of this cheap Confectionery are made and sold in this country every year, and the consumers are the only persons injured by it.

Now, for the benefit of those who wish a pure article of Confectionery,

FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS

Will be paid to any person that will detect the least IMPURITY in any CONFECTIONERY of our manufacture.

Dodd's Nervine Once More.

The standard remedy for biliousness with the medical profession is the Anti-Bilious Pill of the American Pharmacopoia. And its reputation has been well enough deserved. But it is a Pill, nevertheless, and most people of sensibility feel something about as big as a meeting-house coming into their throat whenever a pill is spoken of. DODD'S NERVINE AND INVIGORATOR acts efficiently on the biliary organism; it irritates neither stomach nor intestine in its operation; and what is VERY IMPORTANT, as all good nurses know, it is MOST AGREEABLE TO TAKE, being as pleasant to the palate as any delicate wine. We all know how it is with Cod Liver Oil. In a pure state it is excellent for certain conditions of debility, and particularly its tendencies to Consumption; and yet many of the best physicians decline to prescribe it, because it so dreadfully sickens the patient. That, they say, makes it do more harm than good. With Dodd's Nervine all this becomes obsolete.
